

INTRODUCTION

The RVH Research Institute is committed to supporting employees, students/residents/fellows, and professional staff who wish to publish their research findings. A small, dedicated fund has been established to provide financial support to cover the cost of publishing RVH-led research in peer-reviewed, scientific open access or hybrid journals.

Funds are administered in the form of an award, with article processing charges either paid directly to the publisher or reimbursed to the author upon receipt and approval of all required documentation.

Applications are accepted on a rolling basis and must be submitted within sixty (60) days of the publisher's invoice. Reimbursement will be provided in the form of a cheque for an amount approved by the RVH Research Office. Dispersal of funds are subject to the RVH Publication Award's Terms and Conditions.

ELIGIBILITY

- I am an RVH employee or professional staff member
- I have published my research in a peer-reviewed, scientific open access or hybrid journal
- My publication is considered either: 1) a primary/original report; 2) a systematic/scoping review; or 3) a case study/series report
- I am listed as the primary and/or senior responsible author on the publication
- I have included RVH as one of my institutional affiliations on the publication
- If awarded, I will apply to present my research at the annual RVH IGNITE Research Conference
- I understand that meeting the eligibility criteria does not guarantee receipt of funding and that rejected applications may not be resubmitted
